

Workplace Well-Being: Safe Workspace

Creating a safe work environment is a critical responsibility that will reduce the transmission of COVID 19. Addressing specific concerns with sound practices will go a long way to ensuring public confidence while managing employees' and visitors' physical and emotional health. Work with your safety and wellness committee to form a plan that meets all employees' and visitors' needs.

Ideas

- Review the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention guidelines for workplace safety (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/community/organizations/businesses-employers.html) during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- Review the Minnesota Department of Health guidelines for businesses and employers (https://www.health.state.mn.us/diseases/coronavirus/businesses.html)
- Review the National Institute for Worker Safety and Health (NIOSH) workplace resources
- Review the information provided by the World Health Organization for employers
- Develop and communicate policies related to employee safety at your workplace multiple times in multiple ways.
- Survey your employees to find out their safety concerns and address as they return to work.
- Other
- Set goals, identify solutions; create an action plan to address at least one issue
